General Notes

1. In order to follow the guide, simply start at the first step (1.) and do as it says. When complete, click the box to the left of the number to check it, indicating that you have completed this step. Afterwards, move onto the next step (in this case, it would be 2.) and repeat the process.

2. In order to follow the directions, you must know a few commands and aspects of the game. First, you need to know how to use the Mini-Map. This is the circle (either on the top or bottom of your UI), with a mini circular map. You need to use this map to tell which direction you are headed (North, South, East or West).

Next, you need to know how to use the map. There are two ways to access the map, either by pressing 'M' or 'N' (the default key maps). Pressing 'M' will bring up a new window of the map. Pressing 'N' will bring up a see-through window of the map onto your screen. Once you have the map up, you can add locations by holding 'Ctrl' and Right-Clicking on a spot on the map; this will create a location (a blue 'X') at that spot.

Lastly, with Aion, you collect items on the ground, loot corpses, and talk to NPCs by Right-Clicking on them.

3. As you play through the game at any stage, there will be items that will drop that start quests. Since these are on the rare side and it is not efficient to farm them, it is to your judgment whether or not to complete them. These quests will usually not be included in the guide.

4. This guide is meant to be just that, a guide. It is made relatively vague in order to help you understand it more easily. As a general rule, when the guide is vague, hit 'M' or 'N' (the default key maps) to view the map and look for a blue or yellow arrow. This will indicate where an NPC's location is if the guide does not give you a specific location. This can be used when turning a quest in to find a specific NPC.

5. For the Locations on the Map, use the provided map for each region to show you where that specific location is. Follow the map legend in order to understand what the different indicators on the map mean.

6. As you complete each step, make sure to check in the box. Also, when closing the document, make sure to remember which step you were on for the next time that you play. If you skip a step, remember which step you skipped so that you can go back to it at a later time.

7. Lastly, it is highly suggested to read our free Miscellaneous Guides at the bottom of the linked page, which cover all sorts of topics in Aion, here. You will definitely benefit from reading these if you are new to the game. This leveling guide is strictly for leveling. If you are new to Aion, it will greatly help you with sticking to this guide if you read our other guides, especially our Beginner's Guide.

The Following is the Color Code for the Guide

Blue = Friendly NPC

Red = Enemy NPC

Green = Gathered

Pink = Looted

Purple = Named Location on Map

Bold & Underlined = Location on the Map

Bold = Ability

Yellow Highlight = Accept Quest

Green Highlight = Turn in Quest

Cyan Highlight = Update Quest

Underlined = Compass Direction

Before you get started, it should be stated again that this guide is merely a guide. At many points of your journey through Aion there will be instances where the guide may not be the easiest/best route for you to take. This can be due to many factors, such as that all classes are not the same, you may be duo'ing instead of solo'ing, a specific area might be overcrowded, etc. It is absolutely to your discretion to level however you please. If you feel that completing a quest that is not included in the guide may be more beneficial to your character because of the reward, then feel free to complete that quest. If you feel that grinding in a different area than suggested would be faster for your class, then feel free to do so. Or if a quest is too difficult for your class to complete, save it for a higher level or find other players to help you.

Also, it is up to you to manage your character's gear and funds. This means that you should be selling items and buying items on the Trade Broker at all times. Whenever you are nearby the Trade Broker, take a few minutes to check for gear upgrades or put your loot onto the Broker to make some kinah. This guide is strictly a leveling guide and does not include methods of earning kinah; so that is up to you. The best general methods of earning a decent amount of kinah is to disenchant unsellable armor and sell the Enchantment Stones, always loot the miscellaneous items to sell to merchants, and sell non-usable greens and refining stones on the Broker. Doing all of these should keep you moderately wealthy.

Another important guideline is to always be sure to keep enough kinah available to purchase your next set of skill manuals. It would not be good at all to be unable to afford them once you can use them. At higher levels, these become very expensive, so keep a decent stockpile of kinah available once you are getting close to another set of skills. It isn't a bad idea to always check how much your next set of manuals cost before you reach that level.

Lastly, always keep return scrolls in stock. The beginning part of the guide will remind you to purchase them, but the later parts will not. Plus, you most likely will use some even when the guide does not say to do so. It is always a good idea to keep at least 3 return scrolls of any place you've been to at all times and at least 1 return scroll for places you haven't been yet. The best place to purchase return scrolls is at the General Goods Merchant in your faction's main city.

Poeta (1-10)

Map for Poeta (Elys Levels 1-10)

The best method of utilizing this guide is to print this page to use as a reference. Whenever you are on a step that has a location (the numbers on the map coincide with the step), simply take a look at your printed out map. This avoids you from having to constantly scroll through the document.

Go to the Armor Merchant, Mune, and purchase a Raider's Shield if you are a Warrior. It would also be a good idea to go to the General Goods Merchant, Minalinerk, and purchase a few Minor Life Elixirs for all classes and a few Minor Elixirs of Mana if you are a Priest or Mage. If you have enough kinah left, purchase as many Minor Power Shards as you can if you are a Warrior, Scout, or Priest. You equip Power Shards like a normal item and then hit the 'B' key to activate them. From this point on, it is a good idea to keep the above items in stock, as they will reduce your amount of deaths and reduce the amount of time it takes you to gain levels. Grind Spots

Solo Grinding Spots

1. Level 20-22: (XP1)

Kill Grove Vespines

Good for all classes

2. Level 22-25: (XP2)

Kill Desert Crestliches

They are non aggressive and do not assist each other, but run away if you get too close to them before engaging. Use a ranged ability to attack them first. Also, there is a set of 3 roaming Desert Crestliches that spawn West of the location against the cliff. Make sure to kill them each time as soon as they spawn. As you kill one, the other 2 will wait until that one is dead. Quickly recover and then engage another causing the last one to wait. Finally, kill the last one. It is an easy way to get 3 of them without moving at all. After they are dead, kill the 3 others around the location until the roaming 3 spawn again.

Good for all classes

3. Level 23-25: (XP3)

Kill Snapping Spinners

Pick one set and kill all 3 and then kill the other set of 3 after. Once all 6 are dead, you should have about 30 seconds to rest before they begin respawning. Attempt to time your resting after all 6 are dead so that you can spend the 30 seconds resting instead of simply waiting.

Good for all classes

Faiona's
Guides

Abyss and Eltnen (25-30)

For most of the remaining levels, the guide will spend time in the Abyss. The reason for this is the Abyss not only offers Abyss Points, which can be spent to purchase some of the best gear in the game, but also offers a near 25% XP bonus for every mob killed there. For a leveling guide offering speed and efficiency, it is near impossible to skip the Abyss. The downside to the Abyss is that it is the central PvP zone of the game. This means you most likely will be killed quite a few times by the opposing faction as you try to level. If you do not mind this, I strongly suggest following the guide and utilizing the Abyss.

There are two paths to take for the next 5 levels. One is to follow the steps and mix grinding with questing. This path will grant you with more Kinah, titles, items, and Abyss Points. The other is to purely grind. This path will probably get you to 30 a little faster, but you will lose out on some stuff, including updating and completing the Campaign quests.
